Fit into A New Future Insurance Industry

Prof Dr Peter Maas
Conference Moderation
Member of the Executive Board,
Insurance Institute University
St. Gallen, Switzerland

The global forecast for 2019 still shows robust growth for the European insurance industry, but with a weakening dynamic. All CEE countries of the region demonstrated a stable growth.

Insurers are continuing to concentrate on turnover growth, profitability, overcoming technological challenges, and competition in a dynamic sector.

Empowering a New and Sustainable Insurance Economy in CEE: The European Union strongly supports the transition to a low-carbon, resource-efficient and sustainable economy and is at the forefront of efforts to build a financial system that supports sustainable growth. The position of the insurers, in particular the position/assessment and the first measures of the leading CEE insurers like PZU Group and Generali CEE Holding B.V. are of particular interest.

Business Transformation Leadership is more in demand than ever in the insurance industry. New strategies and the further improvement of products and services to maintain attractive margins are essential and the winners will be those who actively engage in the Business Transformation with Open Innovation and using the «Networked Economy» of the future.

Higher customer expectations, technological innovations and an increased dynamic among disruptive newcomers, who are redefining the market in some areas, are also leading to far-reaching changes and necessary transformation among established insurance companies.

The upcoming InsuranceCom Conference 2019 will once again address and discuss fundamental questions at the highest level. The participants are senior executives, who have been invited personally.

InsuranceCom CEE – the platform where Senior decision-makers of the Austrian and Central & Eastern European Insurance industry meet and exchange their experiences.
